That another election riot in this city will be permanently disastrous to our character and future peace is not universally conceded, and hence all good citizens are anxious that our reputation shall not be finally and hopelessly stricken down by the hand of mob violence.

We hope that respectable and good men of all parties will with each other in their efforts to maintain order from now till the election. Let no man of any party who is not a bona fide voter attempt to vote. Let no one encourage any such attempt. We trust that no Democrat, native or foreign born, will do either. Let there be no unnecessary crowding, no political discussions or alterations at the polls or elsewhere during the day. A day of order and quiet is imperatively demanded, not only by considerations of humanity, of justice and fraternity, but by the honor, the credit, and the future welfare of our city.

We call upon every citizen to avoid saying anything that might subject either him or his party to blame for anything wrong that may occur. We trust that our opponents will feel an equal obligation upon them to save our city from further injury and disgrace. Belong to what party they may, let every one who may show the least disposition to violate good order be promptly dealt with by the authorities as an enemy of Louisville. And let it not be said, when the election is over, that our single citizen has been injured or injured in his person or property, or deprived of his legal rights as a voter.

If the authorities and the citizens generally are for peace, there will be peace. We are anxious to have in our power to announce once more, that Louisville is no longer under mob law, and hope to have that satisfaction. If we do not, we are sure that it will not be the fault of the Democratic party or the Democratic press of the city.

THE STEAMBOAT FRAUD.
The Journal having denied the charge made in this paper on Thursday, that it was contemplated to bring boatloads of illegal voters from Cincinnati to this city, we publish below a card from Mr. Owens fully authenticating it. Mr. Owens' character places his testimony and beyond impeachment.

For the Louisville Times.
Masses. Editors:—The list of names published in the Courier of Thursday, in regard to the Steamboat transaction, was not known, entirely without my consent. For the preservation of the social relations that had existed between one of the party (Mr. Mallory), and myself, I positively refused to give my assent to that publication. I had hoped that it would not be necessary for me to publish my own name in connection with this affair, but from the violent abuse by the Louisville Journal of the author of the report to the Courier as many persons know already who that author is, silence would no longer become me. I do not wish to do Captain Russell injustice, and would not charge him in advance with being guilty of falsehood. I do say, however, that if he denies sailing me to go on a steamboat to play between this port and Cincinnati for the purpose of bringing me here to vote the American ticket, he is guilty of wilful falsehood. If Mr. Mallory denies that he heard this offer from Captain Russell, I shall have to accuse him of the same crime.

So far as the Louisville Journal is concerned, not having known hitherto who was allowed to by the Courier as the author of the report given, I shall consider its denunciations as nothing, and only ask that they shall not be repeated.

Very respectfully,
J. H. OWENS.

There was the highest hope entertained yesterday that such arrangements had been made by the Police of this city to preserve order and peace on next Tuesday. Good men of all shades of politics were earnest in insisting that mob law should no longer disgrace and destroy the city. The Mayor is active in enrolling a Police force sufficient for the emergency, and the Chief of Police seems determined that the laws shall be respected and the good order of the city preserved. We understand that he has given notice to the leaders amongst the mobsters, that they will not be permitted to create disturbance on Tuesday, and that he will hold them to strict accountability for their conduct.

The following resolution, adopted by the City Council a short time since, will show that the Chief of Police has full power.
Resolved, That the Chief of Police be and is hereby directed to station a sufficient police force to keep the peace of the city of Louisville, to keep the polls clear and suppress all riots and disorderly conduct which may occur, and if the present police force under his command, in his opinion, is not adequate for that purpose, that he summon a sufficient number of citizens to act as special policemen on said occasion.

A few days ago, eight hundred and fifty line-men were at work on the canal. The greater portion of them have just been discharged, and all the rest are to be discharged to-day. To what points will they go, and what will they do when they get there? The idea of some two weeks ago, that the work on the Canal was not finished, that nearly all the laborers were paid off and discharged? About one hundred and fifty were retained. Among these are about thirty who have always been employed on the Canal, and nearly or quite all the others are steamboat hands, who reside in Louisville, and whom the low water has thrown out of work on the river. There are the facts about those men who have been employed on the Canal. They have been laboring hard to support their families, and they are to be abandoned without a prospect for doing their duty, and making themselves useful.

Again and again, and again and a hundred times over we invoke each political party to prevent any of its friends from offering a knave and a scoundrel to be elected Mayor. If it be done, there will be no danger of a disturbance of the peace.—Journal.

Very sincerely, We hope that no one will present himself at the polls who is not clearly and unequivocally entitled to a vote.

TO THE PUBLIC.
Having seen an article in the Louisville Journal and other papers relative to myself, I take the liberty to inform the citizens of Louisville that I deny every word in said editorial. On last Wednesday after leaving school, I returned to my lodging, and as it is a habit with me, when I go down Market street, stopped at Mr. Carl Otto's, my friend and companion in youth. I saw two men in said store. When I entered, Mr. Otto introduced me to those two gentlemen. After while, I told him what I thought about the election. He told me that I thought that Buchanan and Breckinridge would be elected. He remarked, "Mr. Parck, I am a ruined man; I have lost $4,000 on Fillmore, and I believe I will be ruined." He moreover asked me where I came from. I told him that I had lived in St. Mary's County, Maryland, for the last 21 years, and that I had two children living there, (a daughter and a son), and that I knew that said county, which has always gone for the Whig party, would, in this election, certainly go for Buchanan and Breckinridge.

As far as the Irish and Germans are concerned, who work on the Canal, I never said a word, except that the gentlemen in question asked what we were going to do with those men on the Canal. I told him that every one of them, provided he was a citizen of the United States, and had complied with the laws thereof, had a right and ought to vote. Mr. — then remarked, "We are in favor of letting every man in Louisville vote, but those who work on the Canal shall not vote." In conclusion, I must say, that I am astonished that Mr. — should publish his friendly conversation. It is true, Mr. Otto told me on Wednesday evening that said man came to his house and asked my name. I do not deny it, because there are many names of old scholars and friends from Maryland, here in Louisville, who would to school to me there. They can tell the editor of the Louisville Journal what I am and who I am.

N. FURCO.
The Hon. Humphrey Marshall spoke at the Court House last night. We did not hear him, but we regret to learn that his speech was very incendiary in its tone. If Mr. Marshall will consult the better men of his party, he will find that they do not approve the views uttered by him last night.

We copy the following from the Democrat of yesterday morning and fully endorse it. It cannot be disguised that a feverish anxiety, as to the peace of this city on Tuesday next, exists, and without reason. We believe that the effect of the present excitement is to put down any disturbance; but some practical suggestions will occur:

1. We hope no one, whose right to vote is really questionable, will offer to vote at all.
2. Men who do not belong to a precinct should not crowd the polls; nor should any one obstruct the way of access to the polls after he has voted.
3. Men should not be allowed to take possession of the polls, as has been done heretofore, before the judges are on hand.
4. It is obvious that no outside interference with the rights of a voter should be allowed. The judges are alone competent to decide whether a man is a voter or not.
5. The legal voters will crowd to get in their votes as fast as possible, but strangers who have no residence in Louisville, and no right of suffrage here, should be prevented from crowding the polls.
6. All coffee-houses should be closed on Tuesday, and kept closed until next morning.
7. Drunken and disorderly persons should be arrested promptly and taken to jail.
8. Parents and guardians should keep minors at home; for they are usually at the beginning of a riot.
9. All good citizens should offer their services to the Mayor, until the number is fully sufficient to insure order.
10. The order at the polls should be published on the morning of the election, and the names of the posse at each place.

We need not say that any attempt to take the polls, or to drive away legal voters by violence, or to allow them from the exercise of their rights, will put us, and to the most lawless, keep the peace, and on the heads of the party guilty of such infamy will rest all the consequences that follow.

PROCLAMATION BY THE MAYOR.
Louisville, Ky., Nov. 1st, 1856.
To the citizens of Louisville:
In order to prevent riots and disorderly conduct in the city at the approaching Presidential election, I have thought it proper, in the discharge of my duties as Mayor, to issue special instructions to the Chief of Police, whereby peace and good order may be preserved in the city, and officers in the discharge of their duties, and to officers to preserve the peace and quiet of the city. Especially I appeal to and earnestly request all coffee-houses and tavern-keepers and other vendors of spirituous or malt liquors in the city, to close their places of business on Monday afternoon preceding the day of the election, and keep them closed till Wednesday morning following; and during that time, to decline furnishing liquor to any one. If this is done, it will greatly contribute to the preservation of peace and good order in the city. It is likewise enjoined upon all parents and guardians to keep their children away from the places of voting, if not kept away in the morning, or to prevent any disorderly conduct or assembly in numbers and the polls should have a tendency to obstruct voting in the exercise of their right of suffrage, and to create disturbance and riot. The peace of the city must be preserved. Law and order must prevail. To secure this, provision has been made, and force will be resorted to if milder means will not suffice.

JOHN BARBER, Mayor.
I cordially concur in the recommendation of the Mayor of this city, and I hereby endorse and support the Mayor, as far as becomes my duty as Chief of Police of the city, shall be honestly and faithfully carried out.

JAMES KIRKPATRICK
Chief of Police.
The Vote in Kentucky.—We give the following as the calculation of what will be the result of the election in this State, on Tuesday next. We give majorities:

9th "	2,500
10th "		4,000
Majority	14,500	4,900

Democratic majority, 9,600.
John Minor Botts, who has boldly uttered in Richmond, Virginia, Black Republican doctrines, has been placed on the Fillmore electoral ticket. He was the first Southern Know-Nothing who proposed striking the 12th section out of the June platform.

We copy the following rich items from the Harborsburg Transcript of yesterday:
A Rum-Joke.—Our Cornishville friends will be amazed to learn that the Louisville Know-Nothing have been determined that it shall be carried by the Know-Nothing next Tuesday. It will be recollected that some Louisville Journal, several weeks since, stating that numbers of the black-carpet-baggers were located on Chaplin, and asking advice as to the best means to prevent them from voting at the November election. A portion of the letter was published in the Journal; but the closing paragraph, asking information with regard to the best means to prevent them from voting, and handed over to a prominent member of the "Executive Committee," who promptly replied to it, giving the wholesale price of a knave and a scoundrel to be elected Mayor. The Doctor has done good service during the canvass, and he returns in high spirits and brings the most cheering news.

For the Daily Louisville Times.
A SUGGESTION.
It cannot be otherwise than gratifying to the moral and order-loving citizens of our city, to see that the indications are that riot and bloodshed are to be prevented, and that peace and decorum are to be preserved at the approaching election. The action taken by his Honor, the Mayor, aided by the Police, and citizens, with the concurrence of the city newspapers of both parties, even though at the eleventh hour, promises that Tuesday next will be a day marked by no riotous demonstrations, but on the contrary by good order and kindly feeling. The only danger is from a class of men in community who have no interest in the law and nothing to lose by any disgrace that lawless violence might bring upon them. Both of the contending parties are equally interested in the re-establishment of law and order.

Many of the citizens consider it unfortunate that the evening preceding the election should have been fixed upon for a popular party demonstration of any kind. The contemplated torch-light procession of the American party on Monday night was only brought to the city as a means of inflaming and dangerous material, and though all the arrangements have been made for the procession, we respectfully suggest that the demonstration be postponed to some other day, and that the public mind be kept in a state of peace and order. The torch-light procession of the American party on Monday night was only brought to the city as a means of inflaming and dangerous material, and though all the arrangements have been made for the procession, we respectfully suggest that the demonstration be postponed to some other day, and that the public mind be kept in a state of peace and order.

THE SEA SERPENT EXPLAINED.—Mr. Metcalf the pleasant author of "The Oxonian in Norway," relates how he met with this sea serpent in this manner:
"Casting my eyes lazily from this noble sight along the base of the stupendous barrier of limestone that girded that side of the Fjord, which was in deep shadow, and as still as a mill-pond, I became aware that something was slowly moving along in the water close to the rocks, at the distance of some quarter of a mile from where I was. It was a black, slimy object, about the size of a fish, but with a long, thin, serpentine body, and a head that was not unlike a snake. It moved slowly along, and as it moved, it seemed to be breathing, and its body was covered with a slimy, black substance. I could not see its shape at once, but only of it, for it kept partially appearing and disappearing as it glided along. It continued to move for some time, and then it disappeared. I was left with a feeling of awe and wonder, and a sense of the power of the sea."
